quarto being open to question. The text of the folio was printed from the 'Heyes' quarto, and so was that of a late quarto which appeared in 1637 and was re-issued with a new title-page in 1652.

Of this play two distinct editions appeared in 1609, with title-pages printed from the same setting of type. The later of these is distinguished by having the stage direction on A 2 misprinted 'Eneer Gower'. Subsequent quartos appeared in 1611, 1619 (with signatures continuous with 'The Whole Contention'), 1630 (two issues differing in the imprint), and 1635. Each quarto was printed from its immediate predecessor except the last which was printed from that of 1619. The folio text was printed from the quarto of 1635.

Two quarto editions, in which the play is described as 'The first part', appeared with the date 1600. The play was written by Drayton, Hathway, Munday and Wilson in collaboration in October 1599, and is correctly stated in the earlier of the two quartos to have been performed by the Lord Admiral's men. This quarto, which is anonymous, bears the initials of the printer V. S. The second quarto, printed from the first, ascribes the play to Shakespeare, and bears the imprint 'London printed for T. P. 1600', the genuineness of which is open to question.

Folio 1664: Text with head-title, ¶F 1^v (p. 82); Ornament at end on [¶G] 6^v (p. 100).

Five acts and scenes in verse and prose.

The original edition of this play appeared in quarto in 1595 as 'By W. S.'

N.B. Each of the three later folios was printed from its immediate predecessor as regards the original plays, and that of 1685 from that of 1664 also as regards the additional pieces.

The third folio was originally prepared for 1663 and was not intended to include the additional plays. A title-page showing this state is preserved.

In the descriptions given above the genuineness of certain imprints has been called in question. This arises from the fact that evidence of a collection of Shakespearian plays earlier than the first folio has recently been discovered. The quartos in question are: A Midsummer Nights Dream ('Printed by James Roberts') 1600, The Merchant of Venice ('Printed by J. Roberts') 1600, Sir John Oldcastle ('printed for T.P.') 1600, King Lear (without publisher's address) 1608, Henry V 1608, The Merry Wives of Windsor 1619, A Yorkshire Tragedy 1619, The Whole Contention (two parts, i. e. The First Part of the Contention between York and Lancaster, and The True Tragedy of Richard Duke of York) [1619], and Pericles 1619 (the signatures of the last two being continuous). There is no doubt that these plays were issued bound in a single volume early in the seventeenth century, and it has been argued with some force that the quartos in question were in reality all printed about 1619. See A. W. Pollard in the 'Academy' for 2 June 1906 and W. W. Greg in the 'Library' for April and October 1908.

With the exception of the plays just mentioned the account of the textual relations of the quartos and folios given above follows that of the editors of the Cambridge Shakespeare.

The following test readings in the verses facing the title-pages of the four folios are useful for detecting made up copies. The table should supersede that given by G. M. R. Turbutt in the description of the Bodleian copy of the first folio, which is not accurate.
